Not since 1896 has Washington been represented by a base ball team which started the season so auspiciously as Manning's aggregation of American leaguers. Both before and since 1806 the Washington base ball club has acted after the fashion of a sounding lead in that it did not appear to sounding lead in that it did not appear to be satisfied until the bottom, or there-abouts, had been reached, and that posi-tion was held onto like grim death until the end of the league season.-Philadelphia

Charlie Comiskey has found it necessary to build new additions to the bleachers at his Chicago base ball park, in order to accommodate the tremendous Sunday crowds. He had large crowds at the park last year, but never experienced such an overflowing that occurred last Sunday, when hundreds of people had to be turned away because they could not get even standing room.

Manager Duffy of the Brewers is a splenfield and a gentleman, but there are some things that even a mild-tempered man like Duffy cannot stand for. Duffy took the club here on mere hearsay, not knowing any of the men-with one or two exceptions—and relied greatly on the recom-mendation of others. He has seen the men under him play now during three weeks and feels confident that the material is there for a good ball club, but the way things have been going of late has been anything but encouraging to Duffy.—Mil-waukee, Wisconsin.

The fact that nearly all of the games in th. "Unless the players keep up the reputation the league made last year they will have to be trimmed up a bit, that is all," said the president. "And these men who I hear are getting to be rather boisterous and a little bit rowdy will have to stop it right away, else they will have their wings clipped short off. The games must be faster and they must be gentlemanly."-Chicago Rec-

From the knees down the Orioles look as if they had waded in raw omelet, which adhered in streaks. The yellow legs fade away into two black bags, supported by a yellow belt. Then comes a black shirt, with an immense yellow O on the left breast. Over this harmonious whole is worn a double-breasted coat, with wide vellow collar and cuffs of the same, and two rows of white pearl buttons as large as ovster shells down the front breadth All that is needed to complete the ensemble of the hottest bunch in Dixie is a pink plus

SUGGESTED AMENDMENT.

Fire Marshal Believes His Authority Should Be Increased. Chief Engineer R. W. Dutton of the District fire department has transmitted to the District Commissioners a recommendation made to him by William O. Drew, the fire marshal, that section 4 of article 2 of the police regulations be so amended as to enlarge his authority in the matter of entering and examining business places.

Mr. Dutton says: "The fire marshal states that in his examination of business places he is restricted by the existing regulations to entering and investigating the cellars of such places. He is of the opinion that not only cellars, but also all upper floors of business houses should be opened to his inspection and to that of the officers of the departfree passageway to the fire department in case of fire."

Chief Dutton's suggestion that the matter be referred to the attorney for the District has been approved by the Commis Wants to See His Tax Bills. J. Edw. Fowler of 921 F street northwest stating that he has been refused his tax bills and asking by what authority the assessor can decline to give a citizen his tax bill that he may examine it before paying the same.
